DAY'S DOINGS.

Fire Department Yesterday Morning-Races at Olympic

on the Bluff at Night-Pro-

The weather yesterday was as lovely as could have been desired, the air cool and bracing and the sky guiltless of a cloud, and the programme arranged for the amusement of those who visited the city was fully carried out. The Mississippi and Tennessee train came in in the morning with two extra coaches filled with excursionists. The Little Rock road also had sionists. The Little Rock road also had two extras well filled, and the Louisville tra. No train came in on the Kansas City road, the passenger train arriving in the evening on that route, while on the Charleston road no train arrived except the accommodation which runs to Moscow. Others are expected to arrive to cow. Others are expected 40 arrive to-day. The number of visitiors is not as large as it might have been, but the crowd was a fair one when it is remembered that this is the season when the farmers are busiest and when it is most difficult for them to leave their crops. As previously announced, there was a street display which fully met expectations. The display of the Fire Department was the best ever made in this city. It was directed by Chief Cleary in person, who left nothing undone that might add to the effect of the display. The steamers were polished until they shone like silver, and were decorated with ribbons. It is the first opportunity that has been given and were decorated with ribbons. It is the first opportunity that has been given for a public display of several recent and improved purchases made by the department, except when at work at fires.

The procession was headed by Arnold's brass band, followed by the Chickasaw Guards, followed by Roland Division Knights of Pythias, a detachment of the McClelland Guards, the fire steamers, head-carrieges and trucks and one or two ards, followed by Roland Division hights of Pythias, a detachment of the Clelland Guards, the fire steamers, se-carriages and trucks and one or two lats. The line of march was from Court hare, down Main to Beale, thence to detach the court share, thence to Main, thence to Court Square, thence to Monroe webb, drunk, $3; Charles Horsfeld, drunk, $2. Lea Murchy, disorderly, disorderly, fined $25 and bound over; John Webb, drunk, $3; Charles Horsfeld, drunk, $2. Lea Murchy, disorderly, $2. A train left the Louisville and Nashville depot at 2:30 o'clock with two coaches, and others went out in their own private turnouts or in out in their own private turnouts or in busses. There were about 350 persons on the grand stand. The first race was a free-for-all trotting race for a purse of $200, mile heats, best three in five. The entries were as follows:

D. J. Raybould enters g. m. Wanda Wilkes, sired by George Wilkes.

Albert swind enters b. m. Vera, sired by Brown Dick.

S. W. Beardsley enters blk. s. Scottish Chief, sired by Trouble.

W. Braston enters g. g. Sailor Boy, sire unknown.

All started. At the tap of the drum Vera led off, followed closely by Wanda.

Vera began doing some very pretty work and at the half-mile all three horses were close together, with Vera gaining at every step. Vera, in the next fifty runs, passed the Chief but fell back again. The latter broke several times on the last quarter-mile but found his feet quickly each time and trotted squarely. Vera was pushed into a run, passed Chief and came in first, but the heat and race were given to Chief. Time—2:58\frac{1}{2}.

fore this he had read law with Judge Bramlett and obtained license to practice in 1832. With no graces of person, small advantages for acquiring knowledge and limited access to books he soon made himself felt in the bar of his county and a little later in the adjoining counties and in the later in the adjoining counties, and in North Alabama he took his stand with the Ewings, Brown, Frier-son, Nicholson, Shields, Fogg, Meigs and Marshall, ranking with the best of them in ability as a lawyer and perhaps the superior of any in capacity for labor and reliability in the preparation of his causes. By sheer strength and directness, attention to business and tenacity to purattention to business and tenacity to purpose he won his way, and with step assured his progress was constant until he was placed, without his solicitation or any effort, on the Supreme bench of the State.

Even in later years, when age and standing at the bar gave authority to his views, and his criticisms of men and things had become trenchant and often severe, it was not indulged in the heat of feeling from a cause lost. The most unexpected judgment was listened to with apparent respect and submitted to with-out upsseemly excitement. Survivors of that dreadful time bear in mind the names of Fathers McGarvey, Bokel, Revelle, Daley, Carey, O'Brien and Sheehy. This morning at 8 c'clock a solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at 8. THE MOZART SOCIETY. appointment of Prof. Downs to the New York, September 17.—Another fair heiress has eloped—not with a coachman, but with a butcher. The coy affections of the shy young girl were gained through the connivance of his sister, who is the young lady's washerwoman. In a snug little villa about a mile down the shady road leading out of New Rochelle in Westchester county, Roma Sickles, the oldest daughter of the rich old George G. Si kles was born and reared. She had everything she could wish, except a husband; even lovers were not denied her, and during the past year two or three shy young men

But, though the father tolerated the presence of these aspiring youths, he would listen to no proposition that sug-gested the idea of a son-in-law. His daughter must marry far above these suitors. Was not his family old, rich, re-spected, and was not the renowned Gen. Sickles his son?

He is not to be allowed in the house, anyhow. Everybody is away and we can't tell you anything.

The family declined to talk and the washerwoman had nothing to say. Mr. Byrne, a young dentist, who paid Mrs. Roma some attention, denied that he had ever been engaged to her. The young lady, it is said, visited the Catholic priest yesterday, who told her she must stand by the marriage. So that all that remains is for the old man to relent.

to accept the first lover that presented himself. But how to get at that lover without her parents' knowledge was the question. And here the washerwoman stepped in with a suggestion. She had washed for the family for several years, and felt qualified to act as counselor to the fair girl. So, it is related, she told Roma of a wonderful brother she had. He was a clerk or a batcher or something in the far-away village of South Manchester, on the Hartford road. If Miss Roma wished the washerwoman would arrange a correspondence between the two. The heiress did so wish, and letters began to pass between New Rochelle and South Manchester. The rich father, who never saw a letter, chuckled to himself at his daughter's obedience, and went more frequently than ever to his office in the city, on Nassau street. During one of these trips to New York the washerwoman is said to have arranged a meeting between E. WITZMANN & CO Wholesale Dealers and Publishers,

But the Romeo in this case was red-faced, about thirty years old, and wore a ready-made suit of pepper-and-salt clothes. The Juliet wore a cool muslin gown, and back of her fluffy blonde bangs perched a bewitching little bonnet of the latest style.

Vows and sighs were exchanged, and the happy pair parted, determined to become man and wife at the next meeting. Last Wednesday Miss Roma obtained permission to visit Mrs. Nicholas, an old friend of the family, who lives in Bergen street, Brooklyn. About 2 o'clock in the afternoon the young lady sallied carelessly out, with the remark that she "was only going to the corner to post a letter."

That settled it and, without losing a minute, the lady forced the bride of a day into a carriage and hurried to the depot, where the first train set them down at New Rochelle. The family were horrified. They said all sorts of hard things, and declared that Roma should never see the husband sgain. He had gone back to his native village and she did not seem to mind his absence. Old Mr. Sickles came on to this city to consult his is awyer, Mr. Downey, with a view to having the marriage annulled. The newlymade husband kept away from his heiress for three days, but on Sunday he mustered up courage and dropped into New Rochelle. He gave a hackman $2 and was driven up to the Sickles homestead and introduced as the new son-in-law. For a few moments there was

Colling Brothers Drug Co.,

St. Louis, Mo. Gentlemen:

I desire to state that I am selling your Collins'
Ages Curs, am never without it, norwill I be as long as it can be obtained. I have been selling Medicines of different kinds for twenty year, but nothing I ever knew equals your Agus Curs, in fact it has almost put astop to the sale of quinine and caloimed at my store, for where it is used there is no need for purgative medicine of any kind.

I have been getting what I have sold of it from Mess. I. C. DuBose & Co., of Mobile, although Ittakes but little to keep me supplied, for the vary reason that one 50 cent bottle is plenty to cure a half dozen cases of Malarial Fever.

I sell a person a bottle, he gives all his neighbors enough off from his bottle to cure them all These are facts in regard to Colliss Agus Curs and I will never be without it again so long as I work freedmen, for before I became sequainted with this remedy I was continually going around with a bottle of calomal in one hand and quinine in the other and now I am saved that trouble. If this letter will be of any benefit to the afficted, you are at liberty to make it public. Very Truly Yours.
